

A vertical stack of ten horizontal bars, each consisting of three distinct sections. The top and bottom sections are white, while the middle section is shaded light gray. A small black dot is positioned on the left side of each bar, aligned with the boundary between the top and middle sections. The bars are separated by small gaps and are set against a light gray background.